

NEW ENGLAND HAS A PROTEST

Claims Discrimination On Western Shipments

HEARING IS BEING HELD IN BOSTON

Before the Chief Examiner of Interstate Commerce Commission

Boston, Oct. 3.—Robert E. Quick, chief examiner of the interstate commerce commission, began hearings at the State House to-day on the question of New England port differentials. The hearings, which are expected to continue throughout the week, were requested by New England chambers of commerce and other organizations which contend that present differentials on western shipments discriminate against New England ports, particularly Boston, in favor of Philadelphia, Baltimore and other south Atlantic ports.

"MATTY" TO SEE GAMES.

Will Return to Watch the World Series Contests.

New York, Oct. 3.—"Big Six", victorious in the battle for life, is coming back to the scene of his greatest diamond triumphs.

Idol of New York fandom for more than a decade and hero of one of the greatest world's triumphs in history, Christy Mathewson will return to witness the battles between the Yankees and Giants. It will be the first real game "Matty" has seen in three years, since he began and won the fight for health shattered by war experience. Out of more than a decade of brilliant pitching achievement, "Matty's" record of three shutouts in the 1905 series, when the Giants defeated the Athletics stands by itself in a niche of the hall of fame. He also was with the Giants in the series of 1911, 1912 and 1913.

FINAL WORKOUT FOR THE SERIES

New York Giants and Yankees Tuned to Concert Pitch

FANS WORKED UP TO ENTHUSIASM

Yankee's Better Pitching Force Said To Be Discounted

New York, Oct. 3 (By the Associated Press).—The New York Giants and Yankees, standard bearers of the National and American leagues, were tuned to concert pitch to-day in final workouts in preparation for the opening to-morrow of the second successive struggle for premier baseball honors. The Giants were victors last year in a ten-day fought world's series that lasted eight games. The laurels this year will go to the team winning four out of seven.

With a shorter series attendance records were not expected to exceed last year's high mark, 269,077 paid admissions for eight games—but indications pointed to capacity demands. Club officials to-day announced a sell-out in reserved seats for the first six games, with thousands of unfilled applications. This is exclusive, however, of 22,000 unreserved seats in the bleachers and upper tier of the grandstand, which will go on sale each day at 10 a. m.

Even Babe Ruth was unable to satisfy a last minute decision for tickets. The Yankee slugger appeared at the Giants' offices in his quest.

Advance guards of delegations from all parts of the United States, Canada and outlying points were on hand early to-day. The influx was expected to reach its height to-night.

Close to 500 newspapermen from all parts of the continent were on hand to supply millions of newspaper readers with first-hand accounts of the series.

of the week checked many untoward moves by rain.

But above and beyond the cold and material facts, the scramble for tickets and the preparations of the faithful who will start the bleacherites' vigil to-night in the lee of Coogan's Bluff, fans in the highways and byways were absorbed in the battle of "ifs" and "ands," the pro and con that wages back and forth over the merits of the contenders.

Those who asserted vehemently that the predominating pitching strength of the Yankees would be the decisive factor were as emphatically answered by those who believed that the hard-hitting, quick-thinking and aggressive attack of the Giants would overcome any disadvantage on the mound.

Neither manager had committed himself to a prediction of victory. Not that either John McGraw or Miller Huggins lacks confidence in his team. But the fact remains that after all has been said both clubs are fortified in close to an even basis with the breaks of the game likely to swing to tide toward either camp.

"I look for a higher grade of baseball this year than we had a year ago," said Manager McGraw.

"This may be contrary to general opinion, but it's my story. A year ago both teams were a bit keyed up, and it took some time for the tension to lessen. This year both have gone through another pennant winning campaign and this, added to the experience they got in the series of 1921, should result in an absence of 'nerves,' but should play at their best."

Huggins was perhaps a little more outspoken.

"We have a great lot of pitchers," he said. "We have a terrific hitter in Ruth—a game, hard-hitting fighting club—a far better team than the one the Giants beat last year. All the men are physically fit, mentally primed. We have just come out of the toughest fight ever waged for a pennant. On paper we look stronger than the Giants, but the series is not won on paper."

The Pitching Staffs.

Pitching has been the outstanding factor in world's series triumphs over a span of two decades. Records reveal an unusual proportion of shut-out twirling—close to a third of the games ending with one team scoreless, with the high mark in 1905 when the Giants blanked the Athletics four times to win while the Mackmen turned the shutout tables once.

Six of the eight games last year were pitching duels, with Waite Hoyt, Phil Douglas, Jess Barnes and Art Nehf in the spot light.

This year Huggins has five stars—Hoyt, Mays, Bush, Shawkey and Jones to oppose Scott, Nehf, McQuillan, Barnes and Ryan of the Giants.

Bush and Shawkey stand head and shoulders above the rest in season's performances. Hoyt will have the confidence gained by the brilliant showing he made last year against the Giants.

McGraw's staff, faltering badly in the latter part of the campaign, apparently has rounded into more consistent form and may upset calculations which have given the Yankees so decided an edge in this department.

Bush, whom Huggins has picked to open the series, has been handicapped for a while by a stone bruise on his left foot, but the Yankee manager asserted during the team's workout yesterday that his star twirler has practically recovered. He predicted "Bullet Joe" would be in prime condition for the first game.

Southpaw Art Nehf is expected to draw McGraw's opening assignment with experts inclined to regard Scott, who has done especially well in his last few games, as second choice.

SCOTT'S RECORD.

Is Within 14 Games of 1000 Straight Games in League.

New York, Oct. 3.—Everett Scott, brilliant shortstop, who will take the field with the Yankees to-morrow in the first game of the world series, finished the 1922 American league season within 14 games of his goal—playing in 1,000 consecutive major league contests.

His streak of 986 straight games, far beyond all previous records, was started June 30, 1916, with Boston. He was with the Red Sox until traded to New York last winter.

Scott narrowly escaped having his record broken on the Yankees' last trip west this year. The shortstop stopped off in Indiana and on the way to Chicago to rejoin his team was held up by a train wreck. By pressing various means of transportation into service he reached the White Sox park in time to play the last innings of the first game of a double header.

The records nearest to Scott's is 577 games, made from 1885 to 1890 in the old American association and National league by George B. Pinckney of the Brooklyn team. Fred Luderus of the Philadelphia Nationals holds the modern National league record, 533 games, played between 1916 and 1919.
